What is a skin perfusion pressure test?

A Skin Perfusion Pressure test assesses the blood flow to the lower extremities. Readings are obtained on the toes, feet, or ankles to help determine if there are any blockages in the blood vessels that supply blood to the lower legs.

How to prepare for the test:

- Please do not drink caffeine or smoke for two hours prior to this test.
- You can eat and drink normally before this test.
- You can take all of your medications before this test.
- Wear comfortable two-piece clothing and undergarments.
- Please shower or bathe before your procedure.
- Please allow 30 minutes for this test.

Upon arrival at the doctor's office...

A member of our staff will escort you to the exam room and explain the procedure. You will be asked to remove your shoes and socks. The technician will perform the test while you lie on your back. The test will take about 30 minutes to complete. A copy of your test report will be sent to your physician.
